Use of word processors

References to AA relate to JCQ Access Arrangements and Reasonable Adjustments and ICE to JCQ Instructions for conducting examinations.

1. Principles for using a word processor

Candidates with access to word processors at BAPA are allowed to do so in order to remove barriers for disabled candidates that prevent them from being placed at a substantial disadvantage as a consequence of persistent and significant difficulties.

The use of word processors at BAPA is only permitted whilst ensuring that the integrity of the assessment is maintained, at the same time as providing access to assessment for a disabled candidate.

The use of word processor at BAPA is not granted where it will compromise the assessment objectives of the specification in question.

Candidates at BAPA may not require the use of a word processor in each specification. As subjects and their methods of assessments may vary, leading to different demands on our candidates, the need for the use of a word processor is considered on a subject-by-subject basis.

The use of a word processor at BAPA is agreed/processed at the start of the course. Candidates are subsequently aware that they will have the use of a word processor for examinations and controlled assessments/coursework.

The use of a word processor at BAPA is only granted if it reflects the support given to the candidate as their 'normal way of working', which is defined as support in the classroom; or working in small groups for reading and/or writing; or literature support lessons: or literacy intervention strategies: and/or in internal school tests and mock examination.

2. The use of a word processor

BAPA provide a word processor with the spelling and grammar check facility/predictive text disabled.

BAPA only grant the use of a word processor to a candidate where it is their 'normal way of working' within the Centre.

BAPA only grant use of a word processor to a candidate if it is appropriate to their needs.

BAPA provide access to word processors to candidates in controlled assessments or coursework components as standard practice unless prohibited by the specification.

BAPA allow candidates to use a word processor in an examination to type certain questions i.e. those requiring extended writing, and handwrite shorter answers.

BAPA area also aware that examinations which have a significant amount of writing, as well as those that place a greater demand on the need to organise thought and plan extended answers, are those where candidates will frequently need to type. Examinations that require more simplistic answers are often easier to handwrite within the answer booklet. The candidate avoids the difficulty of visually tracking between the question paper and screen.

In all cases, BAPA ensure that a word processor cover sheet is completed and attached to each candidate's typed script.

3. Word Processor and their programmes

At BAPA word processors are used as a typewriter, not as a database, although standard formatting software is acceptable.

At BAPA word processors have been cleared of any previously stored data, as must any portable storage medium used. An unauthorised memory stick is not permitted for use by a candidate. Where required, candidates are provided with a memory stick, which has been cleared of any previously stored data, by a nominated member of Centre staff.

At BAPA, word processors are accommodated in such a way that other candidates are not disturbed and cannot read the screen.

At BAPA where a candidate using a word processor is accommodated separately, a separate invigilator is used.

At BAPA word processors are either connected to a printer so that a script can be printed off or have the facility to print from a portable storage medium.

At BAPA documents are printed after the examination is over.

At BAPA candidates granted the use of a word processor are present at the end of the examination when their script is printed off so they can verify that the work printed off is their own.

4. Accommodating word processors in examinations

The use of word processors are internally accommodated at BAPA in the following manner:

- In a dedicated classroom

- Invigilation arrangements relating to the use of word processors at BAPA are trained for the task of supervising candidates who use a word processor for exams
